of the observation of a tower structure between Bad Freienwalde and ~~Platzfelde~~ ^{Platzfelde}. The sketches are of the west, south, and north sides of the tower. Indicated on the sketches are the height of the tower (circa 25 m), the height of the mast (circa 25 m), and the width at the base of the structure (circa 10 m). The entrance is off-center and built into the west side of the tower; two windows on each of five stories are shown on this side. The south side has no entrance but shows two windows for five stories; placed off-center. The north wall is blank. No observation was made of the east side of the structure. At a distance of about 100 m from the tower, a row of concrete pilons, about 2 m in height, were observed.¹
